Apple store account information

Apple operates both Apple Store stores and Apple Online Stores, currently headed by senior vice president Angela Ahrendts. Both retail and online are focused on providing the best possible experience for purchasing iPhone, iPad, Mac, and related accessories. Apple Stores is home to specialists who provide courses on how to get more out of your Apple products, and Genius Bars that fix these products would somehow go wrong. While skeptics doubted that they would succeed, Apple Stores has gone on to become among the most profitable retail spaces in the world and earn over $6,000 per square foot, which is twice as much as any other U.S.-based retailer, including Tiffany's which earns close to $3,000 per square foot on average. It is available through the App Store as a free download. The Apple Store app also lets you buy accessories for Apple products, schedule Genius Bar meetings at your local Apple Store, and even express pay for purchases while you're in-store through EasyPay. After you install the Apple Store app, you're ready to start browsing and buying products. The main menu presents you with a list of product categories to choose from. At its core, the Apple Store app is essentially a custom for the iPhone version of the Apple Online Store. Unfortunately, the Apple Store app in its current form is not optimized for iPad. However, you can still download and run it on any iPad. Almost everything you can access is store.apple.com on a desktop computer is available through the Apple Store app. If you buy an iPod, you can even request a custom engraving right through the app. For people who live near an Apple Store, you can request pickups if they're available for the product you're ordering. For those who order a new Mac, you can custom configure your options just as you would via the full-blown Apple Online Store. You can then track your order and even sign up for push notifications when a product delivers or changes status. If you need to go into your local Apple Store for something, you can schedule a Genius Bar meeting in advance via the Apple Store app and also add it right to your calendar. The app can then notify you when your time is up so you don't forget. When you get to the Apple Store, you can check in to designate with the Apple Store app and even use it to pay for purchases through EasyPay, which greatly minimizes your waiting time. Anyone who has ever been in a crowded Apple Store will appreciate EasyPay. Whether you're planning a trip to your local Apple Store and want to streamline your visit or just want the added convenience of ordering your products online, the Apple Store app is the best way to Both. The Apple Online Store offers Apple's entire product line for sale on the web for those who would either prefer to order online or don't have an Apple Store store near them. While most in-store and online offers are the same, some items, such as higher Macs, must be built to order through the Apple Online Store. Aside from selling iPhones, iPads, iPods, Apple TV, and Macs, the Apple Online Store also sells many accessories from many different manufacturers. If you want to buy a new Apple product but don't have an Apple Store near you, the Apple Online Store is your one-stop shop for everything Apple. The online Apple Store is available in many countries all over the world and offers free shipping for most orders as long as they are over $50. Need a new pair of headphones to join the iPhone you order? No problem, you can browse through many different kinds of accessories to add to your order. To access the Apple Online Store, you can go to store.apple.com from any computer, or download the Apple Store app for iPhone, which is a free download from the App Store. You can then browse through all categories of products and even place an order in just a few taps. The Apple Online Store is also where you are required to place pre-orders for up and coming products, such as reserving an iPhone at your local Apple Store for pickup. The Apple Online Store also allows you to sign in with your Apple ID to track orders, cancel or change them, and even print invoices for all orders you've ever placed under that specific Apple ID. No matter how you get access to the Apple Online Store, many people find it one of the easiest and convenient ways to shop for Apple products. No matter what type of Apple product you are looking for, odds are the Apple Online Store has you covered.
